

Nurse Practitioner
Association of Canada

Association des infirmières et infirmiers
praticiens du Canada

Membership Benefits

Membership in Canada's national nurse practitioner advocacy association builds individual and collective leadership for the nurse practitioner profession.

Membership provides a link to influence Canadian national health care.

Membership gives nurse practitioners representation at national health and policy forums that impact nurse practitioner practice.

The nurse practitioner profession is growing in Canada and our voice influences care for patients.

NPAC-AIIPC works with other national stakeholders and reviews and endorses health care recommendations.

We are a conduit for other organizations and researchers to link you to leadership opportunities.

NPAC-AIIPC provides opportunities for members to engage in research.

Professional organizations and associations reach out to us to provide names of nurse practitioners for various leadership roles.

We serve on committees and are asked to offer names of nurse practitioners to serve on national committees.

NPAC-AIIPC awards an outstanding professional the Nurse Practitioner of the Year Award.

Membership provides an avenue to work with leaders and change agents across our country.

If you want to be involved and have national opportunities, become a member.

We have more than 5000 licensed nurse practitioners in Canada. We/you need NPAC-AIIPC to be empowered, unified with a strong voice to influence health care delivery to all populations in all health care settings.

You want to be a part of this!

The following is a non-exhaustive list of stakeholders we have worked with and supported:

Health Canada – Canadian Revenue Agency – Member of the Disability Advisory Committee

Choosing Wisely Canada

Canadian Task Force of Preventive Health Care

Canadian Association of Radiologists

Canadian Association of Schools of Nursing

Canadian Nurses Association

Canadian Centre on Substance Use and Addiction - NPAC-AIIPC is an Opioid Response Partner

Canadian Partnership Against Cancer

Canadian Researchers

Public Health Agency of Canada - Lyme Disease Toolkit project

Provincial & Territorial Nurse Practitioner Associations