

How do we improve primary care teams?

We are looking for Nurse Practitioners (NPs) who work in primary care in Newfoundland & Labrador or Alberta to interview about optimizing their role within a team.

We are asking you to take part in an approx. 1 hour interview via telephone or videoconference. You will be compensated for your time.

The study is being conducted by researchers at Western University (ON- Dr. Maria Mathews), Memorial University (NL- Dr. Julia Lukewich), Université de Sherbrooke (QC- Dr. Marie-Eve Poitras), University of Alberta (AB- Dr. Patrick Chiu) and Athabasca University (AB- Dr. Kathleen Leslie). The study aims to strengthen collaboration among primary care nurses by clearly defining each group's scope of practice.

The project, “Strengthening Team-Based Care: Optimizing the Scope of Practice of Primary Care Nurses”, is funded by the Canadian Institutes of Health Research (CIHR).

If you are an NP in Alberta (contact: Gina gjiang@ualberta.ca) or Newfoundland and Labrador (contact: Dana danar@mun.ca), we would love to hear from you!

To learn more, please contact SCOPE-PCNursing@groups.uwo.ca

